

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A reflective mask blank has a substrate (1) and a reflective multilayer film (3) formed on the substrate to reflect exposure light. The substrate has a base pattern (2) formed by a predetermined irregularity. On a surface of the reflective multilayer film formed on the base pattern, a step portion corresponding to the base pattern is formed as a programmed defect.